The Making of World Class Graduates A Plan of Action for Students, Parents, and Advisors

By Lance Orndorff

lulu.com. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 148 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.4in. President Obama announced on April 7, 2014 in Maryland the CareerPath grants opportunity, a block of funding to accomplish just what this book puts forward. Transforming the education system begins with a clear partnership between students and mentors, supported by a solid plan of action to integrate all available resources and support networks. This text puts high school, college, and graduate students in the drivers seat and leads them to success in bridging the gap between grade school and career. The old ways are fading and the best students will be doing the right things to ensure their ability to compete in the global market. The author, Lance W. Orndorff, Ms. Ed. , describes the Mentored Action Plan and Academic Passport, two unique and powerful tools for achieving a world-class advantage over other graduates. The current process of educating Americans students follows a linear model with little or no integration of future activities with the foundational activities that precede them. This text serves as a recipe, a plan of action, a valuable tool to assist students, parents, mentors, and others in bridging resources, networks, and opportunities in...
